Creative Learning

At its heart, Tortoise Takeover is about connection. This trail uses art to inspire people of every age and connect them to our community and to the beauty of the world around us.

Sixty-five young tortoise sculptures have been decorated by Jersey schools, colleges and community groups. These incredible young tortoise sculptures are on display in indoor locations in St Helier and across the island. What is Tortoise Takeover?

Slow down this summer and enjoy this island-wide sculpture trail, brought to you by Durrell, in partnership with Wild in Art.

Giant, artist-imagined, tortoise sculptures will take you on a trail of discovery through Jersey's wild and urban spaces. This inclusive, fun and family-friendly event aims to connect us to the natural world, whilst also helping give wildlife a future. With your support we can raise funds to protect some of the most threatened species on the planet.

Saving species

The Amphibian and Reptile House at Jersey Zoo is home to some of the most endangered species that Durrell works with. However, it is in urgent need of improved and more sustainable facilities.

With your support, Tortoise Takeover will raise funds to build a new Tropical House to care for these precious species, on the brink of extinction.

All giant tortoises will be auctioned to raise funds for Durrell. Use the QR code on their plaques to bid.
